1. Policy Purpose & Executive Scope

Prohibits trading on or disseminating Material Non-Public Information (MNPI), institutes trading blackout windows, and mandates transaction pre-clearance for designated insiders.

2. Binding Regulatory Clauses & Compliance Requirements

Section 1.2: Prohibition on Trading on Material Non-Public Information (MNPI) [POL-FIN-005-C01]

Requirement: PROHIBITED | Risk Impact: CRITICAL | Regulatory Base: Securities Exchange Act of 1934 Section 10(b) & Rule 10b-5; Market Abuse Regulation (MAR)

No director, officer, employee, or contractor who possesses Material Non-Public Information (MNPI) concerning the company, business partners, prospective acquisition targets, or public clients may buy or sell securities of such entities, nor communicate such information ('tipping') to any other person. MNPI includes non-public quarterly financial results, major contract wins/losses, merger discussions, or executive departures.

Section 2.1: Mandatory Pre-Clearance for Covered Insiders [POL-FIN-005-C02]

Requirement: MANDATORY | Risk Impact: HIGH | Regulatory Base: SEC Regulation S-K Item 408; Corporate Governance Guidelines

All Designated Insiders (including all Vice Presidents and above, finance personnel, and legal team members) must submit a written Pre-Clearance Request to the Legal Department at least two full business days before executing any purchase, sale, gift, or option exercise of company securities. Pre-clearance is valid for five trading days.

Section 3.1: Mandatory Quarterly Blackout Periods [POL-FIN-005-C03]

Requirement: MANDATORY | Risk Impact: HIGH | Regulatory Base: Sarbanes-Oxley Act Sec. 306(a); SEC Insider Trading Regulations

Quarterly Trading Blackout Periods commence on the 15th calendar day of the final month of each fiscal quarter and conclude at the end of the second full trading day following the public dissemination of the company quarterly financial results. During blackout windows, all trading in company securities by covered personnel is strictly prohibited.

Section 4.2: Information Barriers & Ethical Walls [POL-FIN-005-C04]

Requirement: MANDATORY | Risk Impact: HIGH | Regulatory Base: FINRA Rule 2241; SEC Section 15(g) of the Exchange Act

Business units engaged in confidential transactional advisory, investment banking, or M&A; diligence must maintain physical and logical Ethical Walls. Personnel behind the wall may not share document access, shared drive folders, or discuss project specifics with employees on public trading desks or retail advisory teams.
